William Kelley and his brother Elijah Kelley and father Giles Kelley are the first permanent settlers of record in Pike county, Arkansas. Sam Williams in his memorabilia, 1887, writes, "in November 1815, they located on Wolf Creek in what is now Pike County, but all that country was embraced within the geographical limits of (Clark and) Hempstead County when the Territory was organ-ized. Their stopping there was purely accidental. They started out from (Illinois) to go to Texas, but they became waterbound at Wolf Creek. It was a beautiful valley, a modern Arcadia, and old man Kelley, believing that he might go further and fare worse, gave up all idea of pushing on to Texas and located there."

William Kelley was born in Tennessee on December 17, 1794. The Kelleys eventually established their residence in Jackson county. In 1804 they moved from Tennessee to Illinois and settled in Madison, then St. Clair county, Indiana territory. Early land records indicate Giles Kelley was granted permission to "situate on the heads of Canteen Creek joining David White on the north" in 1808. This is near present day Troy, Illinois.

William Kelley enlisted as a private in Captain Samuel Whiteside's company of U.S. Mounted Rangers in the regiment commanded by Colonel William Russell on March 10, 1813 at Russellville, Illinois. He served a one year tour of duty at Camp Silver Creek and later Camp Russell, Illinois and was discharged on March 10, 1814. They had been called into service by Ninian Edwards, governor, during the Indian wars on the frontier of Illinois.

William Kelley and Rebecca McMahan were married June 14, 1814 in Madison county, Illinois. Rebecca McMahan was born May 4, 1800. She was the daughter of Robert McMahan, Sr. and Nancy Kester. The McMahans then lived on Horse Prairie in Randolph county, Illinois. Her father came to Illinois in 1793 and died in Madison county in 1823. Her mother lived to an advanced age. The Biographical and Historical Memoirs of Southern Arkansas suggests, "aged one hundred and five." The children of William Kelley and Rebecca McMahan, were:

Elizabeth Kelley born June 22, 1815 in Madison county, Illinois; married James Hopkins Kirkham on November 14, 1832 in Clark, now Pike county, Arkansas; mother of eleven children; died 1874 in Pike county, Arkansas.

Samuel Kelley born May 5, 1817 in Clark, now Pike county, Arkansas; married first Rebecca McMahan on June 4, 1840 in Madison county, Illinois; married second Nancy (Bullock) Horton on July 27, 1876 in Howard county, Arkansas; died August 10, 1894 in Pike county, Arkansas; buried in the Murfreesboro Cemetery, Pike county, Arkansas.

Giles Kelley born February 2, 1819 in Clark, now Pike county, Arkansas; died after October 1, 1843.

Robert McMahan Kelley born March 31, 1821 in Clark, now Pike county, Arkansas; married Sarah Adaline Carpenter in 1839 in Pike county, Arkansas; died in 1867.

Nancy Kelley born January 20, 1823 in Clark, now Pike county, Arkansas; married William G. Dossey in 1839 in Pike county, Arkansas.

Elijah W. Kelley born February 17, 1825 in Clark, now Pike county, Arkansas; married Elizabeth McDaniel on April 14, 1843 in Pike county, Arkansas; died October 22, 1877 in Pike county, Arkansas; buried in the Delight Cemetery, Delight, Pike county, Arkansas.

Margaret Kelley born August 24, 1827 in Clark, now Pike county, Arkansas; married Willis Hopwood Doss on August 31, 1853 in Pike county, Arkansas; died December 13, 1896; buried in the Delight Cemetery, Delight, Pike county, Arkansas.

William Jackson Kelley born December 20, 1829/1830 in Clark, now Pike county, Arkansas, married Nancy N. Scott on June 24, 1852 in Hempstead county, Arkansas; died August 25, 1872 at Murfreesboro, Pike county, Arkansas.

George Washington Kelley born January 1, 1832 in Clark, now Pike county, Arkansas; died July 15, 1832 in Clark, now Pike county, Arkansas.

Martha Ann Kelley born September 15, 1834 in Pike county, Arkansas; died January 19, 1835 in Pike county, Arkansas.

William Kelley was commissioned a magistrate of Clark county, Arkansas for Missouri township on July 26, 1828. When Pike county, Arkansas was organized in 1833, he continued as a magistrate or justice of the peace, and was elected the second judge of Pike county succeeding Washington Sorrels in 1835. He served as judge until 1840 when he was replaced by David Huddleston. He was re-elected county judge in 1844 and served until 1848. He was followed by James Scott. The Bio-graphical and Historical Memoirs of Southern Arkansas indicates William Kelley was "by pro-fession a Baptist minister" who "changed his views uniting with the Christian Church and a practicing physician for many years" an "M.D. (medical doctor) of the Botanic School." His occupation is given as "physician" in the 1860 Pike County, Arkansas census.

The records of the Antioch Church of Christ at Delight, Arkansas 1833-1916, indicate he was ordained an Elder on October 19, 1842 and appointed Pastor of the church on December 24, 1842. He became an Evangelist (or minister of the gospel) on November 23, 1851. He was ordained by Elder M.H. Wade at the house of Abner H. Hancock in Pike county. Sam Williams indicates, William Kelley "was a Campbellite preacher" and "gifted with a phenomenal memory." He "possessed the extraordinary acquirement of being able to recite, by heart, the entire New Testament."

William Kelley died February 14, 1869. Rebecca McMahan Kelley, blind, according to the 1850 census, died October 9, 1857. They were buried in a family cemetery at their residence near Wolf Creek, Pike county, Arkansas where they settled in 1815.

Minutes of the Court of Common Pleas

July Term 1821

This day, William Gentry, having served the time which the law prescribes as overseer of a part of the public road leading from Jacob Barkman's to the Little Missouri, commencing at the Antoine and ending (at) the Little Missouri, presented to the Court the order issued by the Clerk of this Court.

Whereupon, the Court appointed William Kelley overseer of said road for one year.

Clark County, Arkansas Circuit Court Minutes, July Term 1821. Courthouse, Arkadelphia, Arkansas.

John W. Williams, Complainant

vs.

William H. Bizzell & Asa Thompson, Defts.

CHANCERY

And now on this day comes the Complainant by his Solicitors and it appearing to the satisfaction of the Court that the said Defendant Asa Thompson is a non resident of this State. It is therefore ordered by the Court, upon motion of the said Complainant, that the said Defendant Asa Thompson be notified of the commencement of this suit and that the substance of the Complainants bill is as follows, to wit:

That, said Complainant and said Asa Thompson had various business transactions with each other in the course of which the Complainant fell in debt to the said Thompson and executed to him several writings obligatory ... which said writings obligatory on the 20th day of July 1840 were endorsed by said Thompson to one William H. Bizzell who instituted suit thereon in the Hempstead Circuit Court and recovered judgement for Seven hundred and fifty dollars debt and eighty two dollars fifty one cents damages. The Bill further states that said Thompson was largely indebted to individuals and the Banks and that he procured Complainant and Hugh Blevins to become his security upon a note to the Real Estate Bank of Arkansas in Wash-ington for three thousand dollars or thereabouts. That to secure them said Thompson executed to (not deciphered) a mortgage upon six negroes and other property specified in said Mortgage. That the Real Estate Bank instituted suit on said note against Complainant & Blevins and at the October term 1840 recovered judgement against them for two thousand four hundred dollars with six percent interest thereon from (the) fourth of July 1840 together with costs amounting to about ten dollars and eighty three cents ...

The Bill further states that during the Spring or Summer of 1840, Thompson, for the fraudulent purpose of swindling his creditors and securities, secretly ran away from this State carrying with him, the negroes so mortgaged, as aforesaid, and other property to the State of Missouri where he sold them. That Complainant at great expense pursued said Thompson to St. Louis and there found three of said negroes, the residue Complainant has never been able to find or hear from ... The Bill further states that Complainant purchased of said Thompson a negro girl for which in hand paid (the) Sum of 200 in money and gave him his writing obligatory for two Hundred & fifty dollars ... That one Jackson Frazier has ... asserted a claim to Said negro girl and (has) Instituted a Suit for her Recovery in the Hempstead Circuit Court against the said Complainant & if successful, Complainant will not only loose the $200 already paid as aforesaid, but would be compelled to buy the writing obligatory aforesaid, given for the residue of the purchase money of said negro girl without any available recourse, as said Thompson is insolvent and beyond the jurisdiction of the United States ...

It is therefore ordered that the said Defendant Asa Thompson appear before the Judge of this Court in Chancery on the third day of the next term of the Court to be holden at the Court House in the town of Washington, Hempstead County on the first Monday of April 1843 and plead, answer, or demur to said bill or that the same will be taken as confessed and a decree entered accordingly and that this order (be) directed to said Defendant by publication in some newspaper printed in this State for Eight weeks successively, the last insertion to be at least four weeks before the commencement of the said next term of this Court.

Whereupon Court adjourned until tomorrow 2 o'clock p.m.

ASA THOMPSON

A Notable Character

In the southwestern part of Arkansas in the long ago, there were numerous men of bold and enterprising character, nearly every one of whom developed some peculiar characteristic that rendered him either famous or notorious. Not the least conspicuous among these men was Asa Thompson, who in his day was probably as well and widely known as any individual in that whole region. At some period in his life, the particulars of which I never learned, he contracted an acute affliction of the spine which had the effect to draw him almost in double. I might better describe it by saying that his frame was drawn to a right angle. When walking, his head was but little if any higher than his knees. Had he been straight he would have been quite a tall man. His home was at Murfreesboro, in Pike county, but he was quite as familiarly known in Hempstead and contiguous counties as in Pike. He was enterprising and bold in speculation, and would seize hold of almost anything that promised to turn out profitable. Owing to his unfortunate deformity he could not ride astride of a horse. He always sat sideways, but never used any other than a man's saddle. I do not know whether it was because he could ride upon a man's saddle with more comfort, or whether it was from a feeling of pride or a sense of shame that he abstained from the use of a side-saddle.

His great weakness was cards, and it is probable that a more inveterate gambler never lived in Arkansas. Wherever he stopped, in his peregrinations through the country, he hunted up a game, which was not very difficult to do in those days. He was reputed to have been a great faro-dealer, and devoted a great deal of time to it. When not engaged in cards, he was absorbed in business, and accumulated considerable property. While living in Pike county he was elected to the legislature and served one session in Little Rock, where, it is hardly necessary to inform the reader, he found abundant opportunity to indulge in his favorite pastime. While the General Assembly of which he was a member was in session, the general conference of the Methodist church convened in the State Capital, and filled the town with preachers. During the sitting of the Conference religious services were held every night at the Methodist church, all the ministers attending, of course. One night, after preaching was over, several of the men were leisurely sauntering along the street together when their attention was attracted by a pedestrian, just in advance of them, carrying a candle in one hand and stooped over as though he was looking for something on the sidewalk. He was moving at a very slow pace, and the men of the cloth very soon came up with him. They kindly enquired if he had lost anything, to which he replied that he had lost a hundred dollars. The preachers immediately expressed sympathy for him in this ill luck, and at once set about to aid him in searching for his lost roll. Each one bent down and began to peer attentively along the sidewalk. After proceeding thus some distance, one of them enquired of the doubled-up Diogenes if he had any idea where he dropped his missing treasure. "Oh, I dropped it up there at the faro-bank!" was Thompson's instant reply. It goes without saying that this was a "new revelation" to the men of the cloth, and that they then and there ceased searching for the lost money. The individual with the candle proved to be our eccentric friend, Asa Thompson. The man was unknown to the preachers, and his peculiar shape in walking led to the very natural mistake into which they had fallen. Thompson did not know, nor did he care who they were, inasmuch as he had very little respect for preaching and preachers, and the candid and truthful answer to the enquiry addressed to him was dictated by a humorous thought, which may have struck in at the moment, to give them a sell.

Notwithstanding, as stated above, Thompson sat upon his horse woman-fashion, he traveled a great deal. Buggy-driving in that day was almost un-known. These convenient vehicles had not yet been introduced into Arkansas; besides which, the then condition of the roads rendered such mode of locomotion impracticable. Asa was as well known in the country as "Humpy" Thompson as by his true name. He was exceedingly social in disposition and loved gay and jovial company. He once became the proprietor of a wandering circus which came through the country, and tried his fortune with that for some time, and to which he was no doubt an interesting side-show. In the vocation he no doubt found ample opportunity to pursue his favorite amusement.

The last seen or heard of "Humpy" Thompson, so far as I can learn, was in 1848, in which year he suddenly turned up in Washington, tarried a week or two, and then disappeared, probably going to the Omnium-Gatherums of the odds and ends of the earth: Texas.

The "Arkansas Gazette" for March 30, 1830 contains an advertisement by Asa Thompson who had leased the "cele-brated Warm Springs on the Washita" and added "several new apartments neatly completed" prepared "to accomodate all who may favor him with their calls" and promised rates to be "as reasonable as can be afforded." Philip Doddridge Brewer

Born near Hackett, in Sebastian County, Arkansas, June 18, 1861, died at Oklahoma City on August 28, 1932. Son of John Oliver Brewer, born in 1834 in (Pike) County, Arkansas, and his wife Sarah Louise Brewer, nee Council, born in Ala-bama. His paternal grandfather, William Lewis Brewer, a Methodist preacher, located in an early day in Sebastian County, coming from Pike County, Arkansas, where his father settled near Murfreesboro in 1818 or 1819, the Little Missouri River in said section being named by the party of settlers who came with his father from Missouri. His father was Oliver Brewer born in North Carolina in Hillsboro District, Chatham County, from where he moved to (Tennessee) and ... Missouri ... and later to a point near Murfreesboro in Pike County,

Arkansas, where he died on October 13, 1834. Married twice, by his first wife he had a son Henry Brewer, born in North Carolina, October 30, 1799, died April 30, 1876, and buried in a cemetery at Murfreesboro, Arkansas, (sons John and Oliver Brewer) and a daughter by the name of (Rosanna). By the second wife, who was born on December 27, 1787, and died December 10, 1827, he had the following children: Henderson Brewer born December 15, 1804, coming to Pike County, in Arkansas Territory, with his father ... The said William Lewis Brewer, born October 3, 1809 (in Bellevue), Missouri, coming with his father Oliver Brewer to Pike County, Arkansas, died March 1, 1871, in Sebastian County, Arkansas, and is buried at Mt. Olive Cemetery at Midland, Arkansas. His wife was Elizabeth Sorrels, daughter of George Washington Sorrels, ... one of the early judges of (Pike) County, Arkansas. Another son by the second wife was James Stephen(son) Brewer, born in Pike County, Arkansas, July 26, 1811. The following daughters were by the second wife: Lucinda, born in Missouri, December 13, 1813, whose first husband was John M. Dickson. After his death she married Abijah Davis. Another daughter was Rebecca Brewer, born in Missouri, January 12, 1815. Her first husband was named Sorrels, her second was named Griffin, her third was named Orrick, and her fourth named Ba-rentine. Another daughter was Mary Brewer, born March 15, 1820 in Pike County, Arkansas. She died March 14, 1841. Another daughter was Mathilda Brewer, born April 3, 1823, died March 31. 1841. Another daughter was Luvisa Brewer, born December 7, 1825. She married Major William Preston, who in an early day was engaged in the mercantile business in Murfreesboro, Arkansas. They had a son who was a distinguished officer in the Confederate Army. The dates of births and deaths of the said Oliver Brewer and his wife and children are secured from an old family Bible in the possession of Mrs. Cora Rountree, of Murfreesboro, Pike County, Arkansas, who is a descendant of Lucinda Brewer. On the inside of the old leather bound volume appears in faded ink the following words: "Lucinda Davis - her book." On the front page of the Bible appears the following:

"Published by Waugh and T. Mason for the Methodist Episcopal Church at the Conference
Office 14 Crosby Street,
J. Collard, Printer
1832"

Brewer Owens, who was raised by his grandfather,

Henry Brewer, says that his said grandfather told him that Oliver Brewer, the original Arkansas settler of their family, had a daughter by his first wife whose name he does not remember and who was a full sister to said Henry Brewer ... John H. Haynes, of Hope, Arkansas, is a descendant of (Oliver) Brewer, his grandmother's name being Lucinda Brewer ... The Brewer family from which Philip Doddridge Brewer was descended branched out ... settling in North Carolina, the Missouri Brewers coming from North Carolina. The father of Judge Philip D. Brewer, John Oliver Brewer, was named after his grandfather Oliver Brewer ... O.J.M. Brewer, of Heavener, Oklahoma, is a son of William C. Brewer, full brother of John O. Brewer of Sebastian County, Arkansas. There is a division in the narration as to how the Brewer family came from ... (Bellevue), Missouri to Arkansas, one branch of the family saying they came down what was called the "old Buffalo Trail," by way of Little Rock, which was after-wards surveyed and called the "Military Road," and that by said trail the Brewer and their fellow settlers came from Missouri with ox teams settling near Murfreesboro in Pike County, Arkansas, about 1818 or 1819. The other account is that said party floated down the Missouri River to and down the Mississippi River, to and thence up Red River disembarking at a point near Fulton, Arkansas, and settling at a point near Murfreesboro in Pike County, Arkansas. In any event this party were among the first settlers in said section in Arkansas Territory.

At the outbreak of the Civil War in 1861 Judge Philip D. Brewer's father, John Oliver Brewer, was county surveyor of Sebastian County, Arkansas. He enlisted in the Union Army, serving in that capacity until 1863 when he died, being buried in the Union Soldier's section in the cemetery at Fayetteville, Arkansas. His mother Sarah Louise Council, who was born in Alabama, came to Arkansas in 1858 whilst a girl, and married his father at a point near Hackett. His father dying in his infancy he and his mother continued to reside in the community, struggling against the adversities and vicissitudes, following the war. She died in 1913 at the age of eighty-three years and is buried in Hackett, Arkansas.

Being anxious to secure an education, the opportunities for which were meager on account of the devastation occasioned by the Civil War in that section, having attended available local schools, in 1877 he entered Asbury College, now DePauw

University, at Greencastle, Indiana, where he was a student for a short while. This constituted all educational advantages except what he received at home and through his own personal efforts as a self-educator. Being ambitious to become a lawyer he studied at home and under the occasional tutorship of the Hon. J.S. Little, of Greenwood, Arkansas, State Prosecuting Attorney for that Circuit, and later Circuit Judge, Congressman, and Governor. Judge Philip D. Brewer was admitted to the bar after an examination in open court at Greenwood, Arkansas, on December 20, 1886. J.A. Hale, who was afterwards his law partner, and C.D. James, were admitted to the bar in the same order. He opened an office at Hackett, practicing in the Circuit Court at Greenwood and Fort Smith and at other points. He was elected as a Democrat to the Lower House of the Arkansas State Legislature at an election held in the fall of 1890, serving during that session which extended from January 12th to April 3, 1891. Continuing in the active practice of law with an office at Hackett, when the United State Court was established at Cameron, Indian Territory, in 1895 he opened an office at that point, under the firm name of Brewer & Hale, the junior member being James L. Hale, who now resides at Poteau, Oklahoma. He retained his residence and office at Hackett for a short while, dividing his time with the Cameron office, until he disposed of pending litigation on the Arkansas side. In the fall of 1895 he removed to Cameron to take care of growing business on the Indian Territory side, where he remained until the fall of 1897, then removing to McAlester, Indian Territory, and engaging in the practice of law there under the firm name of Hale & Brewer, the senior member of said firm being the late Jap A. Hale. At the termination of this partnership he engaged in the practice of law there under the firm of Horton & Brewer, the senior member being William J. Horton. Later this partnership being dissolved he continued the practice of law there under the firm name of Brewer & Andrews, the junior member being Guy L. Andrews. In 1909 he was appointed by the Governor as Judge of the Superior Court for Pittsburg County, which office had recently been created by an act of the Legislature. In 1910 having been elected for a full term to said office he continued in that capacity until he was appointed to the Supreme Court Commission in 1911. On August 1, 1911, he removed to Oklahoma City, having qualified as Supreme Court Commissioner, all the time being a presiding judge of a division and holding such office by re-appointment, until he resigned in 1916 to engage in the practice of the law in Oklahoma City under the firm name of Vaught & Brewer, the senior member being Edgar S. Vaught now United States Judge for the Western District of Oklahoma, and so continued in the practice of law until his retirement in 1926 on account of his health, the firm being at that time Everest, Vaught & Brewer.

The opinions prepared by him on the appellate court in reasoning, statement, and language disclosed a sound judicial capacity, learning and grasp of marked distinction. In the practice of law in the Capitol City he appeared only occasionally in the trial courts, being constantly engaged before the Supreme Court of the State, United States Circuit Courts of Appeal and Supreme Court of the United States, when not engrossed as a counselor, in all of which his work and achievements were of the first order.

He was a Mason, becoming a member of the Grand Lodge of the Indian Territory in 1898 at Wynnewood, later serving as Grand Orator, Grand Senior Warden, and Deputy Grand Master.

In 1903 he was elected Grand Master of the Grand Lodge, A.F. & A.M. of Indian Territory, serving one year. He had also served as Worshipful Master of his local lodge. He received the Master Mason's degree in October, 1882, in Amity Lodge No. 267 at Hackett, Arkansas, serving as a Deputy Grand Master in the Arkansas jurisdiction. He received all degrees of Masonry from the third to the thirty-second and the Scottish Rite Consistory at McAlester, Oklahoma, and was a member of India Temple Shrine, Oklahoma City.

In politics he was a Democrat. In 1900 he became a member of the Indian Territory Democratic Central Committee and so continued until 1904. In his quiet but effective way for years he participated in the Democratic organization activities. At McAlester he served a number of years as a member of the school board.

A successful business man and a lawyer, for a number of years he was a director of the First National Bank of McAlester, and after retiring from the Supreme Court Commission, engaging in the active practice of the law, he participated in the organization of, and became a director of the Liberty National Bank of Oklahoma City, so continuing until his death. For a number of years he was its general counsel.

In early life he became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, for years a member of the Board of Stewards of St. Luke's Methodist Church at Oklahoma City, and at the time of his death a trustee.

He also took an active interest in the Oklahoma Historical Society, having been for years prior to his death a Vice-President and Director. He was a member of the committee appointed by the Oklahoma Historical Society at an annual meeting, and approved by the Legislature, to act jointly with the State Board of Affairs in the construction of the Oklahoma Historical Building, his name being carved on the corner stone as a member of said committee.

He was a member of the Oklahoma Golf & Country Club and Men's Dinner Club at Oklahoma City.

Whilst on all occasions, displaying an admirable dignity, yet at times he disclosed a sense of quiet humor that was refreshing. His attitude towards early friends, especially those from the environs of his native country, evidence highest appreciation of the refinements of friendship.

Able, well poised and open - frank, firm, but kind - he faithfully met every obligation to his fellow man, country, Church and God. As a faithful and dependable friend, kind and loving husband, and foster father and grandfather he will be re-membered. As an ethical lawyer and upright judge he was the first rank, excelling not only in ability but also in character.

Married on November 25, 1894, at Hackett, Arkansas, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna L. Brewer. In his death the state lost one of its best citizens.

Richard H.L. Rutherford

Dr. Richard H.L. Rutherford, physician, Hollywood, Ark. Archibald Hamilton Rutherford, the father of the subject of this sketch, was born in Smith County,

Tenn., on the 14th of November, 1811, and died in Grant County, Ark., on the 9th day of December 1888 at the age of seventy-seven years and twenty-five days. He came of sturdy Scotch ancestry, whose emigration to this country was prior to the Revolutionary War. The family settled in Goochland County, Va., in 1747, and a number of its members still reside around the ancestral home in the Old Dominion. In 1805 his father, William B. Rutherford moved with his family to Smith County, Tenn., and there he received his final summons. He died in 1825. His wife, whose maiden name was Margaret M. Parish, survived him a number of years and died in 1854 at the advanced age of eighty-four years. Archibald H. Rutherford was reared to the arduous duties of the farm, and received such educational advantages as the schools of that day afforded. In 1831 he came to Arkansas, wither his brother Samuel had preceded him in the year 1817, resided a year in Little Rock, and then moved to Clark County, where he lived for seven years. While there he engaged in merchandising, and at the same time studied law. In 1833 he was elected county judge of Clark County, and in 1835 he was elected clerk of the circuit court, and re-elected to the same office in 1836. One year later he was elected a member of the Legislature of the State, to till an unexpired term, and was re-elected in 1838 and again in 1840. He was admitted to the bar in 1838 and in 1841 was appointed deputy clerk of the United States court at Little Rock, which position he held until 1845. Mr. Rutherford was one of the Democratic leaders, and the Democratic organ for the State was the Arkansas Banner. He was selected by his party to control it, and he edited it with marked ability and force during 1845 and 1846. In 1847 he went with his brother, S.M. Rutherford, superintendent of Indian affairs, Southwestern Territory, to the Territory, and remained there until the fall of 1849, when he returned to Fort Smith, Ark., where he engaged in the practice of law with Ben T. Duval until 1855. In December of the previous year he was elected treasurer of the State of Arkansas, which position he held until 1857. In 1856 he was appointed by Gov. Conway, superintendent and instructor of the State penitentiary, also private secretary to the governor, and during a portion of the latter's term, he was also acting secretary of the State. In 1858 he was appointed clerk of the district and circuit courts of the United States for the Eastern District of Arkansas, which office he resigned in 1860. He was a State's Democrat of the Calhoun school, and warmly and ably advocated the election of Breckinridge to the presidency in the memorable contest preceding the (Civil) war. At this time he was engaged in writing for the Arkansas True Democrat, a paper in which he had an interest, and at that time the ablest and most influential journal in the Southwest, outside of New Orleans, and which had an immense circulation. He took a firm and decided stand for Southern rights and State sovereignty, and was an inveterate foe of Northern aggression. In 1861 he was appointed Confederate States receiver for the Eastern District of Arkansas, an office of great responsibility and trust, which he held until the death of the Confederacy. During the war he removed his family to Texas, but remained himself the greater portion of the time in Arkansas in discharge of his duties as a public functionary. He has two sons in the Confederate army, one a surgeon and the other a member of the celebrated "Woodruff's Battery." After the war he had little to do with politics in an active way, but gave his attention principally to farming. He was twice married; his first wife died in 1838, leaving two children, both of whom are now living: Dr. R.H.L. Rutherford (subject of this sketch) and Mrs. M.E. Rowland, of Alexander, Ark. His second marriage was to Miss Mary Lewis, who died in November, 1854, leaving four children, two of whom are living: E.P. Rutherford, of Clarksville, Tex., and C.L. who was residing with his father at the time of the latter's death. The character of Mr. Rutherford was above reproach, and he was a man who would "feel a stain upon his personal honor like a wound." His whole life was an exemplification of the purest and most exalted principles. He was faithful to every trust, and devotion to duty was his watchword. He lived and died a sincere and active member of the Christian Church, with which he had been connected for fifty-four years. He was a good man, in the fullest sense of the word, a kind father, a loving husband and a true friend. Dr. R.H.L. Rutherford, the subject of this sketch was reared and trained by that good man, his father, and it is but natural that he should inherit some of the predominant characteristics of that gentleman. He was born in Clark County, Ark., on the 30th day of April, 1838, and in 1874 was married to Miss Mary E. Stell, a native of Pike County, Ark., born on the 30th day of April, 1858, and the daughter of Armstrong A. and Emily Wingfield Stell. To the Doctor and wife were born five children, four now living: Charles H., William C., Vernal L. and Stell. Dr. Rutherford received his scholastic training during a three years' course at that well-known and justly famous site of learning, "The Cumberland University of Lebanon, Tennessee," "The St. Andrews," a superior Catholic college located where he then lived at Fort Smith, Ark., (which city, although on the Indian Nation's border-line, was then one of the most prosperous and promising, as it is now one of the greater of the principal cities in Arkansas), and he concluded the laying of his general literary foundation, upon which was to be builded his future achievements, in the collegiate department of "The Arkansas College," of Fayetteville, Ark., under the splendid tutelage of Prof. Robert Graham, its then president (who was pronouncedly one amongst the most erudite, progressive and successful educators, whose labors ever shed luster upon and gave caste to any Southern academy of learning), graduating at that college in 1856. Thus grounded, and thus superbly equipped as a scholar, the natural bent of mind and the studious habits of our subject impelled him, when in the eighteenth year of his age, to select as a field for his future achievements the profession of medicine, and after four years of unremitting application in the effort to explore in all their ramifications the occult minutiae of "the healing art," when he had attended in 1859 and 1860 the lectures and courses at the Medical College of Nashville, Tenn., he then obtained, with distinction, his deserved diploma from that unsurpassed temple of Galenic wisdom. Thence returning to his "native heath," his abilities as a physician and surgeon, as well as his energies as a man, were at once called into play, and a large well-paying practice for one of his age and experience forthwith followed, as surely and as naturally as effect follows the cause, for he was a born doctor, and the true physician, like the real poet, can not be made unless there be underlying native aptitude. As indicative of the proficiency in his profession which Dr. Rutherford had attained at the time of the commencement of the late (Civil) war which immediately followed the early manipulation by him of the "scalpel," it might be mentioned here, that when in 1862 from head-quarters of the National Southern Government, an order emanated for the establishment of "medical boards" in all Southern States, to be composed of the ablest, most eminent doctors in all that profession whose duty it should be, thoroughly and rigidly to examine (and license such as were found qualified only) all surgeons throughout the Southern States, whilst hundreds compelled to undergo such examinations, which were as rigid, exhaustive and merciless as medical knowledge and professional pride and duty could formulate - while hundreds at the hands of that "State Board of Examining Physicians," of which in Arkansas the eminent Dr. P.O. Hooper, at Little Rock, was the capable president, utterly failed to meet its approval, and very many supposed capable practitioners were peremptorily denied the right to ply their vocation, Dr. Rutherford then, not only easily withstood this crucial ordeal, but with honors, was assigned to an exalted and a most responsible position in the hospital department of the Confederate army, which position throughout the entire war he maintained uninterruptedly, with great advantage to the country, and indeed, with such unqualified approval by the Government, that there can be no doubt, he could, without effort on his part to do so, have retained the position permanently in the regular army, had Southern arms triumphed in that struggle. At the disintegration of the Confederate forces, the Doctor returned to his native State; and, continuing as he has since done in the active practice of his learned profession, is now known to be, and is confessedly one of the most eminent and successful physicians in this section of country. In connection with his practice, the Doctor is also engaged in farming, owning as he does, some 200 acres of good land, of which about forty acres are under cultivation. Nor should we fail to mention, before concluding this sketch, that the Doctor inherited from his talented father the happy faculty of expressing his thoughts with ease and elegance in written composition; and he has frequently contributed to numerous journals in his locality, entertaining and instructive articles, on the various subjects which from time to time have claimed his attention and engaged his thought. Although seemingly unconscious of the fact, it is nevertheless true, that he is a most agreeable writer, and upon occasion can wield a trenchant and caustic pen, his command of the language being especially ample and noticeable, and his style forceful. Mrs. Rutherford is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. In politics the Doctor is "a chip off the old block" also, and while not a member of any church, his stanch and rigid ideas of strict morality, and his natural amiableness of disposition, as common repute has it of him, justifies us in concluding this article with the assertion that he is at heart, a good man.

Arkansas Death Record Indexes are AVAILABLE!

If your roots are in Arkansas, here's a valuable new source to help with your research: death certificates! The State of Arkansas began keeping death records in February, 1914, and these index volumes, taken from Health Department records, are to those records that have the potential to be very helpful to your search for those elusive Arkansas ancestors. These indexes show the deceased person's name, date of death, and the county from which the death was reported. Unfortunately, they don't show all the deaths which occurred in Arkansas, only the ones reported to the state.

One of the biggest values of these indexes is looking up collateral relatives, those great aunt and uncles and cousins, who may seem like fallen leaves off the family tree, but whose information can be helpful to you. A death record for some third cousin, twice removed may lead you to a family cemetery where generations of your family are buried.

Previously, to find out if a certificate was on file for a particular person, you had to pay your money and take your chances. The Health Department keeps your money as a search fee if no record is found. Now, with these valuable indexes, you'll know what's available before you order certificates.

These indexes are arranged two ways - statewide and in regional volumes. This makes the information more affordable and tailored to your needs. The data are the same in the statewide and regional volumes, only the arrangement and selection are different. See "How to Order" after the book descriptions.

Dear Dorothy,

I appreciate your help with my Pike county family research. I am sending some of the family information sheets I have and a chart of my direct generation line.

My Lee and Johnson lines are from Pike County via Georgia. I am not sure about the Simpsons. Sarah Jane Simpson married Greenberry Lee. They were in Cherokee County, Georgia in the 1850 Census and in Pike County in the 1860 Census. I do not know who Sarah Jane's parents were - there is some indication that her mother was a Sims.

The Dooly name is not in my direct line. Allen Dooly's widow married Lewis Bobo the father of Mary E. Bobo who married Robert R. Highsmith. Their daughter (my great grandmother) was born in Montgomery County (1865). It seems much of Pike County roots go back to Georgia.

I will appreciate any information you might have or connections I might make. If I can be of any help with information from Georgia, I will be more than happy to do so.

Sincerely,

Roena

P.S. I have a copy of "Highsmiths in America" (and) if you need information from this source let me know. It's coverage is quiet extensive.

Dorothy,

Thank you for the reply to my request for Whisenhunt family info. Since writing you I have been in touch with Raymond Whisenhunt. He still has copies of his book so I may purchase one. We plan to be in Dallas in April so perhaps we will get together with him then.

I've enclosed what I have for your surname files. I'm not sure what format you prefer so I hope this works. I would love to hear from anyone on any of the family names. The Brock family is a very busy one for family research. I subscribe to a group on-line, but so far no help for me. Should anyone want to contact me on-line my address:

Tawker1@aol.com

Thank you also for the copy of The Gems. Mayme is my grandmother.

Dear Dorothy,

Thank you for your letter ... I am enclosing material on my HARDIN family project. Bobbie Jones McLane has helped me a great deal over the years - she understands what a "colorful" life my gr-gr grandmother Mary Hardin had. Mary Hardin is one I would still like to learn more about. As a Mary White she married Abner Harrison; as Mary Harrison widow of Abner Harrison she married William P. Hardin; and then according to pension records she married Herod S. Whitmore and she didn't know he had a wife at that time - documents all prove such.

I am enclosing a copy of the land record, 1860 Pike Co., Arkansas, for William P. Hardin. I realize that Clark Co., Arkansas was home a lot of the time to these Hardins. I would very much like to prove the birthplace of my grandfather and verify that his father, Marcus Hardin, is in fact the one who was murdered at widow Sparks in 1889. I believe that references on the sheets will be helpful. The family sheets begin with my grand-father: Alfred Alexander Hardin; Marcus (Mark) Hardin gr-grandfather; William P. Hardin gr-gr-grandfather. I have enclosed group sheets for William F.D. Hardin son of William P. Hardin by (his) first wife. I'd like to know more about her because it might help me locate William P. Hardin's family in Tennessee. Also enclosed is a family sheet on Lewis Hardin speculated to be a brother to William P. Hardin. Lewis was a next door neighbor of William P. Hardin in Hot Springs. Lewis's children appear to be with Abraham Wells on (the) census for 1860.

I am interested in all surnames involved with these Hardin men where children are born. Bobbie McLane checked out the newspaper articles thoroughly and none mentioned (the) name of (his) wife or children regarding the murder of Mark Hardin. I am wondering if there is information on (the) "widow Sparks" place? ... If you have any suggestions or ideas how to learn more about any of these people please let me know ... I know that Mark Hardin and his father-in-law were witnesses on a land transaction about 1883 and (I) think it was Pike Co. I don't know the name of Peter Childers' first wife for certain - his (Peter's) daughter Martha Jane Childers ... married Mark Hardin. I know nothing about Martha Childers (Hardin) after she became a widow except it was stated she married a second time (surname perhaps York) and had two daughters Ida and Grace. One daughter lived in Little Rock in (the) early 1900's. Martha Jane Childers Hardin (possibly York) was living in San Antonio, Texas in 1908 and at the time of her son's marriage to Myrtle Berry (in 1909). Martha worked as a cook at the state hospital ...

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely,
Maryann Stalpers

Dorothy,

I just had to drop you a note and let you know once again how much I appreciate what you and everyone else does in putting together "The Gems". It's crammed full of valuable information each time, so much so that I wish it was published more frequently.

My genealogical information will be sent to you very shortly (of) ... what ... I've finished to date on the Lamb, Lewallen and Witt families. I have some on the Dossey family but probably not enough to send to you at this point.

Again ... thanks for your work. It really is appreciated.

Sincerely,

Billie

Dear Dorothy,

Thank you for the PCAHS Winter 1997 issue of (the) GEMS ... I want to thank you too for the attention that you have given to my request for information on HUFFMAN/BABBIT data ...

I believe that I mentioned before, both my father and mother came from families with roots in (the) Clark and Pike County area. One of the biggest mysteries remaining in the JONES data is that we cannot find the place of death/burial for my great grandfather Council Kimbral Jones b. 6 March 1813, Giles County, Tennessee d. 13 May 1884 place of death/burial unknown. He married second on 15 July 1863 at Okolona, Clark County, Arkansas (to) Charity E.S. WILLIAMS b. 7 Dec 1820 (in) NC d. 26 August 1872 place of death/burial unknown. Perhaps they are buried together, but where, is the mystery. Surely they are in the Arkadelphia (or) Murfreesboro area. Is there a chance you could find anything about the place of death/burial for Council Kimbral Jones? Searching and finding this remains my number one priority.

I appreciate your interest and your correspondence.

Sincerely,

Ralph E. Jones

Dear Friends,

I am posing a (few) question(s) and hoping someone has or can find the answer for us.

John BREWER died 9 April 1845. He probably died in Brewer Township, Pike County. His wife Elvira and all of his children left Arkansas early in 1853 for Oregon. Now, here is my dilemma.

Where is he buried? Is there a gravestone? Is there a death notice anywhere in the paper or a small funeral notice that is handed out to friends? Was there a will or probate record? How about an estate sale of some sort when his wife and children left?

I would appreciate any help.

Sincerely,

Aileen Brewer (Mrs. Ronald L.)

ARCHIVES UPDATE

PCAHS met in December for a pot luck dinner where Ed and Bonnie True Reach from Alba, Texas tried to surprise me by attending the meeting along with Jack and Jordine Chesshir McNutt. Bonnie shares the Stewart, Cooley, Kennedy, Hudson lines with me and others. Jordine McNutt descends from the Corinth families and shares Hutsons and other collateral families with PCAHS members. Those attending other than our guests were Harrison Gilmer, Shirley Graves Martin, Jan Jackson McGalliard, Linda Wilson, Joyce Sanders Couch, Fern Anderson Adams and Vanessa and myself.

We were very happy to learn that PCAHS life member Linda Willingham Meek of Shreveport, La. has had a remarkable recovery from brain surgery in the fall of 1996.

I am saddened to report to you that PCAHS member Georgia Bell Huddleston Evans died Nov. 24, 1997. Those of us who knew Georgia will miss her. She was an avid genealogy researcher.

Jo Etta Stuart Ray, a Stuart, Kennedy, Cooley, Hudson descendant, died Nov. 27, 1997. She was an aunt of PCAHS member Kathleen Cooley Smith. Jo Etta was so much help to Bonnie Reach and me when we started research. Kathleen Smith, Bonnie Reach and Shane Hill all descend from the same branch of family.

PCAHS wishes to extend our sympathy to our president Harrison Gilmer and wife Mary Alice whose mother Thelma Keeling Hill passed away after a lengthy illness. We were also told PCAHS member Geraldine Barker of De Leon, Texas passed away and we wish to extend our con-dolences to her family. Condolences also to PCHAS member Scott Kizzia for the loss of his father Fletcher Kizzia.

It is time for Membership Renewal. PCAHS membership runs from January to December. Please let me know if you did not receive all four issues of "The Gems" for 1997. The Gems index for 1997 should be ready by January 1998.

A large bound book of charts of Pike County families (too many to list) has been received by the archive from Floyd Hendricks, Jr., 121 N. 53, Ft. Smith, AR 72903. Also, a very large packet of Porter, Stelter, Ponder, Sharp, Winfred, Wagley, Wisener, Morphew, Haltom, Jones, Chambers, Holder, Webb, Hinds, Mitchell, Buckley, Harris, Cummings, Cogburn, Rabjohn, Spears, Finney, Foshee and others compiled by Toland J. Stelter from Betty Stelter Jones, Rt. 1, Box 48X, Mur-freesboro, AR 71958. In addition a 95 page "Prince Is The Name" genealogy was given to PCAHS from Zell and Dorothy Finney Ward of Pike City, Arkansas and includes Prince, How-erton, Williams, Woodall, Knighten, Finney, Greeson, Atchley, Smalling, Gregory, Donaldson, Stone and others.

All of these donations of family history and genealogy are very much appreciated by PCAHS.

In 1836 Taylor Polk (later of Pike County) decided to go into the slave business in earnest. Tax records show that between 1830 and 1835 he owned only one adult slave, but in 1836 he owned eleven ... none of the other Polk families, Taylor's brothers, four of whom lived in Arkansas, owned any slaves at that time.

The slaves of Henry W. Carter (of Pike County, Arkansas) came through his first wife, Martha Hoover. Mike Loftis, negro, who worked for Henry W. Carter after the Civil War, slept in the kitchen which was a separate house behind their home. Another family of negroes lived across the creek, being Bob Vaughn, ... Dick and Feen (Aunt Feen-Fine) Loftis (daughter of Bob Vaughn) (and children) Frances, John, Phoebe, Leila.

A private cemetery on land of Pike County settler Blount Bullock and abandoned long ago ... is located about 3 miles east of Nathan, Pike County, Arkansas. During the Civil War soldiers were buried here. It is also a burial place of slaves.
