The Snow Family of Pike Co. Ark.

Fountain Lafayette (Fate) Snow and Sarah Elizabeth (Liza) Hughes Snow left Tuscaloosa Co., Alabama around 1897 and traveled by train to Mena, Arkansas just as the RR tracks were completed to that area. They hired a man with a team and wagon to take them on up to Rich Mountain. With them were six of their nine children. They supported themselves by gathering ginseng and raising vegetables and selling them.

They remained on the mountain for three years and Fountain Lafayette bought eighty acres of land from Jonathan B. White about three miles east of David B. White's store in Langley and was living there in 1900. The children that moved to Langley, Pike Co., Arkansas and their ages when they arrived in Pike Co., were: Farley Snow age 25, stayed in Langley for a short time and went back to Alabama and married Kathryn Thompson; Rhoda Snow age 22, married Dudley Bowling and moved to Oklahoma; Oliver (Ollie) Edmond Snow age 19, my father, married Sarah Aurora White, my mother, and they remained in Pike Co.; Julius E. Snow age 16, remained in Pike Co. for several years and went back to Alabama; Irene Roxanne (Arena) Snow age 14, married Nick White and remained in Pike Co. for several years and then moved to Sevier Co., Ark.; Thomas M. Snow age 11, died in 1903, and was buried at Hall Cemetery. Their son John D. Snow, and wife Annie C. Boyd, came after Fate and Liza were settled in Langley and stayed there for fifteen years and then went back to Alabama.

Oliver (Ollie) Edmond Snow, born 14 Oct. 1882 in Tuscaloosa Co., Alabama, died 13 June 1960 in DeQueen, Arkansas and was buried in Hall Cemetery, Langley, Pike Co., Ark. Married Sarah Aurora White, 3 April 1910, in Howard Co. Ark.

Sarah Aurora White, born 18 July 1888 in Pike Co., died 28 Sept. 1931 in Lockesburg, Sevier Co., Ark. and was buried in Hall Cemetery, Langley, Pike Co., Ark. Sarah was the daughter of David B. White and Elizabeth (Betty) Jones.

Ollie and Sarah bought about forty acres of land from his father Fountain L. Snow in 1921, which was all that was left of the original 80 acres, to make a living farming. As their family got bigger and the land got poorer, plus the depression coming on, it became impossible for them to support a big family on such poor soil. They sold two parcels of land, two different times, and ended up with just ten acres of land. In 1929, they packed up what little valuables they had and took their children and moved down to Sevier Co., Ark. and share-cropped for a couple of farmers down there. In 1931, Sarah Aurora died, and Ollie moved back up to Langley with the children that would go and fanned that piece of land again. Needless to say, he couldn't make it this time either, and sold the last ten acres and the old house for one hundred dollars and two cows and a calf and moved back to Lockesburg.

Odis and Vercie Davis was keeping the cows for him until he could get someone to haul them to Lockesburg. One of the cows fell off a cliff and broke her leg and had to be destroyed. He finally got someone to transport the other cow and calf to Lockesburg for him, so this was a blessing for the family.

Children of Ollie Snow and Sarah Aurora (White) Snow

Pearl Snow born 5 Apr. 1911, Langley, Pike Co., Ark; died 9 Aug. 1994, Centralia, Washington; buried Centralia, Washington; married James W. Ross, 24 Dec. 1930, Sevier Co., Ark.

Nola Snow born 16 Jul. 1912, Langley, Pike Co., Ark.; died 24 Sept. 1998, Little Rock, Pulaski Co., Ark.; buried Hall Cemetery, Pike Co., Ark.; married Johnnie Harmon Bashaw, 14 Oct. 1928, Langley, Pike Co., Ark.

Lilly Snow born 10 Oct. 1913, Langley, Pike Co., Ark.; died 6 Nov. 1993, Shreveport, La., buried Shreveport, La.; married Albert H. Ross, 30 Mar. 1934, Lockesburg, Sevier Co., Ark.

Roy Oscar Snow born 26 Apr. 1915, Langley, Pike Co., Ark.; living; married Ida Ellon Little, 26 Sept. 1940, Lockesburg, Sevier Co., Ark.

Oregon Trail

The Elliott Wagon Train of 1853

Preface

Men seeking free land had been coming to Oregon Territory for some years when in 1852 viewers from Linn, Lane and Benton counties scouted a new cut-off from the Oregon Trail at the Malheur River west to the Willamette Valley.

In 1853, contracts were let to build the new road which was believed to be over a hundred miles shorter than the old Oregon Trail. It was known as the Elliott Cut-off, and those who took it were often referred to as "The Lost Wagon Train of 1853".

The number in the immigration coming to Oregon in 1853 has been estimated as 8,000 men, women and children. Of these, about 275 remained on the Oregon Trail. Some 200 wagons left the Oregon Trail in Idaho and came into the Willamette Valley via the Southern or Applegate route, and 50 wagons split off to pioneer the first wagon road to Washington Territory.

At Umatilla Indian Agency, Thomas K. Williams, acting Indian Agent, attempted to keep an accurate list of those passing the agency on the Oregon Trail. It was the only such list ever kept there, as far as known.

This roster includes those known to have been members of the Elliott or "Lost Wagon Train of 1853" who took the new Cut-off. Added also are the names of those believed to have taken the new route, but not proven.

The Elliott Wagon Train of 1853 turned off the Oregon Trail near the present-day town of Vale, Oregon and took the dry Eastern Oregon route that finally led them over the Cascades into Lane County.

A Little History

Washington Telegraph - The Baptist church burned at Nashville the other day has a history. It was built about fifty years ago before Nashville had been Baptized and when the place was known as Mine Creek. Few people of this day remember Allen M. Scott, lawyer, preacher, teacher, grammarian, mathematician, poet, sketch writer and conversationalist. Six feet two inches in height and about twelve inches in breadth, his figure attracted marked attention wherever he went. He was never so happy as when engaged in a disputation with someone in the pulpit or through the columns of a newspaper. It was he of whom a rival polemic wrote - and the characterization stuck to him to his dying day:

Allen M. Scott, attorney at law,
The man who waded the Arkansas.

Well, Allen M. Scott taught school and preached in the old Nashville Baptist church half a century ago. His school or academy, as it was called enjoyed quite a reputation as an institution of learning and was well patronized by the surrounding country. The old church served as a hall for political meetings and other public gatherings in the old days, and many a forensic contest has been waged under its roof. Lately it had been repaired, almost reconstructed, and was a very neat and commodious church building.

Nashville News - Yes, the old church has a history. For many years it was the only church building in the town - indeed the only public building of any kind, and was open to preachers of all denominations as well as political meetings and minstrel shows.

Allen M. Scott, who taught school there years ago, practiced law in Little Rock prior to that time, and his sign which read as follows:

Allen M. Scott, attorney at law,
The tallest man you ever saw, attracted universal attention. Many of our citizens remember Allen M. Scott. Mr. A.H Hale, of this place, went to school to Scott at Monticello, Ark., along about 1856, several years after he left Nashville. Mr. Hale has a copy of "The Prompter," a book on English grammar written by Scott in 1853, while he was principal of Harper Institute, Woodville, La. (One of) Scott's ... daughter(s) married a son of Hon. (William) Kelley while living at this place. The old house in which Scott lived is still standing. It stands on a hill across the creek east of where the church stood.

Scott went to Memphis in 1858 and taught school there until he was shot and killed by one of his students in (1863).

Wm. J. Kelley's speech, Vaedictory

Address by Wm. J. Kelley. On his taking his final leave of School. Delivered at Mine Creek, Ark., June 24, 1852.

There are perhaps few men, that do not often look back upon the days of youth with mingled emotions. The mind loves to cling to childhood's sunny hours; and oft time, the superannuated pilgrim, who has seen his three score years and ten, calls up on memory's magic mirror, the recollection of youth's flowery spring, of early associates, of scenes of youthful enjoyment.

There are times when the memory of these happier days, seems to come unbidden to the mind. "Tis then that we dwell" with ecstasy on these fond recollections. We almost imagine ourselves transported back to early life - that we are mingling again with our first associates - that we are again under the paternal roof and impelled by youthful ardor, again, as on days long since past, chasing the painted butterfly from flower to flower.

I have been led to these reflections from the fact that I am about, this day, to take my final leave of school. Circumstances, which I cannot control, now call to another scene of action, and, though it is with unfeigned regret, I must this day bid adieu to my teacher and beloved associates in study, and all the cherished scenes that have made my stay at Mine Creek so delightful to myself. For a year and a half - for three full sessions - Mine Creek has been my home; to this school I have resorted daily, and mingling with these students & occupying a place in these classes, I have acquired the greatest share of my humble education.

How far I have met the hopes of parents and friends, becomes me not to say. Whether or not I have rendered obedience to the rules of my Alma Mater, must remain with the Principal to decide, should that point ever be called in question. However, I may be permitted to say, that at no time since my first connection with this institution, have I ever intentionally violated one of its rules. For the Principle, were I simply to say that I bear respect, would be virtually to do violence to my feelings. I regard him as my Teacher, as one who has discharged towards me, with a degree of faithfulness which I think no man can surpass, every duty included, in that comprehensive term.

I take the parting hand of my fellow students with feelings which words are inadequate to express. I love them with a love unfeigned, and shall ever cherish for them a feeling closely allied to those, who are "bone of my bone and flesh of my flesh." Your names, your faces - your images are deeply impressed on the tablets of my mind. Go whether-soever I may - let my lot fall among northern snows or southern sands - let Prosperity strew my path with flowers or adversity, claim me as her own - still throughout all future life, to the latest hour of my earthly existence, will I think of Mine Creek and you, as I would think of home and kindred.

Then, the parting hour has come! It remains only for me to say to teacher, fellow students, trustees, friends at Mine Creek - all, adieu!

Know All Men,

By these Presents, that William J. Kelly (sic), the bearer of this paper, attended the Mine Creek

Male and Female College, situated in Hempstead county, Arkansas, for the space of three Sessions, as a student, and two sessions as an assistant. During all this time, his conduct was beyond reproach, he was obedient to rule, and studious in his habits, and successful in his studies. I know that he is eminently qualified to teach all the Branches of an English education, commonly taught in schools of high grade, together with the rudiments of the Latin language.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto annexed my name as President of said College, and affixed the seal thereof. This May 28th 1854.

To Mrs. Nancy N. Kelley

As the pencil of thought can in memory trace
The impress of scenes and emotions long by,
So a pen written line may recall us a face
Though the hand may be far, or entombed it may lie.

May thy Album, dear Niece, be the tablet of lines
So warm of affection - So radiant of thought,
So pure of emotion as friendship shines
That regret or erasure shall never efface aught.

And so may thy life be in brightness and peace,
May earnest emotions make genial thy sphere,
To make others happy 'till comes thy release,
Thus memory's tablet thy name shall endear.

Holly Springs, Miss. June 1st 1854.

Harvey Scott

Woodville, La. Aug. 8th (Friday) 1856

Dear Nancy;

We are in mourning! Poor little Margaret is dead!
She lies a cold corpse in the room where I write.

She died last night at 10 minutes past 8 o'clock, without a struggle or a groan, maintaining her proper reason till the last.

I wrote to you (or to Mr. K.) a week ago, that both Margaret and myself had relapsed. I am not yet well, but am taking no medicine, and owing to so much loss of sleep and distress, I am scarcely able to sit up.

When Margaret relapsed we called a physician again - he called in another to advise with him, and they did every thing that skill could dictate and energy execute. Still she continually grew worse, as efforts in her behalf were unavailing. She had a flow from the bowels that continued from Sunday 27th up to the time of her death, a period of over 11 days. For several days, we expected her to die every hour. Yesterday she began to sink rapidly. Late in the evening, she asked who would take her place at the table, and would be carried into the dining room to view it once more. She requested that her cat should be fed and not neglected. She embraced her mother and me frequently, and all the children. She asked Burk to stoop down and kiss her. She complained of being cold, and soon her spirit was set free and was wafted away to that far-off land where the destroyer comes no more!

Poor Margaret! She spoke of her place at the table! She has a better place now, at a far batter table! We seem still to hear her moans and her piteous requests for water, but she is safe in that world where there is no sighing or sorrow, and where she can drink of that river that gladdens the city of the living God.

I hope that you and Mary will not mourn as those that have no hope. Your sister is gone. She cannot come to you, but you can go to her. We have all been invited to make Heaven our eternal home, and your sister has been sent first. She is safe from harm and danger, we are not. Be it then our task to get ready for the summons that sooner or later awaits us.

The rest of us are well, tho fatigued & distressed.

We have had friends almost ... (one-third top right corner of page missing) ... In no place would we have met with ... numbers are now ... for the burial and funeral ... place ... at 2 o'clock ... have spared no pains or expense to bury her ... a due respectful manner!

School was to have commenced ... but has been postponed another ... consequence of affliction.

We await the time of your visit with much impatience - come as soon as you can, and in the meantime let us hear from you every week.

Your father affectionately

Allen M. Scott

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Burke Kelley

Burke Kelley was born August 9, 1868, in Murfreesboro, (Arkansas), the youngest son of Nancy Scott and William Kelley ... After his father's death ... Burke moved with his mother and two brothers to Brinkley. The other two Kelley boys were Robert, who was a doctor, practicing in DeWitt and Arkansas County for a decade, and Edward, who moved to Washington D.C. A sister, Minnie (McBride) Kelley, married William J. Knox and moved to Memphis.

Burke went to work on the old Brinkley Argus as one of the youngest printers' devils in the state. During his youth, he moved more often than a Methodist preacher and worked on almost every newspaper in Arkansas. At one time he was on the staff of the Arkansas Gazette with his close friend, Louis Audigler of Portland, Oregon, who is today a nationally known writer and traveler. Burke's mother died and he returned to Brinkley to settle down. There he met and courted his future bride, Ludie Yates, taking her on a wedding trip on the new railroad to Newport in the late 1880s.

Ludie Yates was born September 15, 1874, in Lee County, the younger of two girls, daughters of Americus Wilkes and William Yates. Della, the sister, married David Tate of Jacksonville, and she died in 1910. The marriage of Americus and William was a war romance. The young soldier in the War Between the States was on furlough in 1863 when he visited the Wilkes home in Mississippi with the two Wilkes brothers. He fell in love with Americus then and promised to come for her after the war. Following their marriage, they settled in eastern Arkansas.

The Kelleys lived in Forrest City for awhile, where Kelley was associated with the Forrest City Times. In 1912 Burke Kelley moved to Lonoke, where he first leased, then bought the Lonoke Democrat, one of the oldest and largest weekly papers in the state. When the modern Linotype was installed Kelley kept his case where he "could feel the type." He died in 1925 and Mrs. Kelley died in 1933.

Children: Mrs. Lawrence Church of DeValls

Bluff, who became editor and publisher of the Lonoke Democrat, serving for 12 years following her father's death; Mrs. Joseph R. Roberts of Little Rock; and Mrs. Mark B. Grimes of McCrory. A son, Edward Foreman Kelley is superintendent of the Buckeye cotton Oil Mill at Selma, Alabama.

Grandchildren: Mrs. Walter Gardner of Lima, Peru; Kay and Joe Robert Jr. of Little Rock; and Jimmy Grimes of McCrory.

HUTSON - Uncle Joab Hutson died at his home near Bengin, Ark., Feb. 17, 1890. He was born Jan. 13, 1809, and was converted and joined the M.E. Church, South, in the summer of 1845, and from the time of his conversion till his death he was a faithful and consistent Christian. He loved the Church of his choice, and was always ready to do anything in his power for the advancement of the cause of his Master. He was a kind husband, father and friend. His neighbors all loved him. He suffered much, but bore it all with Christian patience. He leaves an aged wife and a host of friends to mourn, but not without hope. He lived a true, devoted and consistent Christian life, and died in the faith. He told his friends that the religion he professed in life was sufficient in the last hour. He told me when I visited him a few days before he died, the way was clear and bright. May the good Lord help his friends to imitate him in their lives, and meet him in the sweet bye and bye.

I am looking for information on Harriet Whisenant. She is listed on Bethel Church roll October 9, 1866 to January 4, 1868. Do you know what Whisenant she was married to? Harriett was the daughter of John Childers and Frances (?). Harriett was born December 22, 1843 in TN and died March 3, 1906 in Montgomery County, AR. She married Henry Welsley (sic) Sigman on May 15, 1867 in Montgomery County, AR. I cannot find a marriage record for Harriett and (?) Whisenant. They probably married in Pike County ... I have been trying to locate my "John & Martha Sharp" of Pike Co., Thompson Twp., AR. I know their children and know to whom 2 of their girls married, but that's about all. One Married to S.A. Winford and the other to Dr. W.A. Alford, both of Pike Co.

John's birth was in 1802, probably in Greene Co., TN; He was in Calhoun Co, AL and married Martha Jane Newell in 1839; a daughter was born. He then moved to Greene Co, TN; a daughter was born. He made his last move to Pike Co, AR where his last daughter was born.

I believe John's father was born in GA, and his name could have been Thomas Sharp who lived in Greene Co, TN before 1810. No proof.

I made an attempt to connect him to the Howard Co. Sharp family, but was not able to find a connection.

Has anyone else tried to locate my Sharp family through our PCAHS? John is my gg-grandfather.

I'm writing to share some information with you and to thank you for your help. As you advised in another email, we did visit Murfreesboro and the Historical Society ... it was great to get a feel for the area where my ancestors lived.

During our trip last week, we also visited De-Queen, where we got a copy of the marriage certificate for John H. Foster and Minda Cochran, 14 July, 1876. I am sure that this is the John Foster and Minda (?) in the Pike Co. Reconstructed Marriage Records, and that they are my great grandparents. The same John and Minda listed in the 1880 Pike Co. Census ... I also found Sevier County to be a "gold mine". John's grand-father settled there in the early 1840's and all of his children where married there. The marriage records plus a stack of probate records will keep me busy for weeks.

Thanks again. I don't think I would have made these finds without the great help from the reconstructed lists.

Jan --

I have updated my WHITE history and also finally finished the LAMB history. Wanda will be bringing the updated copies to the Archives probably this Friday or Saturday.

Currently there are 3-ring binders: one holds the WHITE children -- John; Elizabeth; Barbara; George and Abner. The other is labial David Benjamin, which also includes Henry Levi, Oleva's grandfather ...

The LAMB history actually is a lot more accurate than what is (now) there in (the archives) ... You can replace it, or keep both since the old one contains data from other researchers. The primary change is that Henry & Mary Goodman LAMB are not in our Archibald line as I previously believed. My wife's line now reads Archibald (1744); Archibald (ca. 1760); Archibald (1800) and Archibald (1847).

Am preparing additional Ancestor data sheets which I will forward next week.

Hi David ...

I just found your web pages for the Reconstructed Pike County, AR Marriages ... great work!!! I am descended from several of the families who lived in Pike County, and I'm not sure if you want corrected spellings for some of the names listed, or if you're trying to go by the original spellings in the Marriage Books from Clark County and other sources ...

If you're interested in correct spellings, I can give you several, i.e., the "Osburn" family actually spelled their name as Osborn, and the James Ben who married Nancy Self is actually James Bean ...

Also, I'd be very interested in knowing who gave you some of the information for these Reconstructed Marriages, if possible, because I found several names and marriage dates for some of my family members that I've never found before, and I'd be very interested in knowing if those people who gave you the information have documentation for those names and dates!

Thanks, and again, great work!!!

Henry Lafayette (H.L) Sweeden, 1870, Van Buren Co., AR - 1931/7 Pike Co., AR. Sur-names: Sweeden, Sewell, Frazier, Brents, Epperson. While trying to figure who my G-Grandmother, Elizabeth Jane (Sweeden) Flowers parents are, I have traced (a) Henry & William Sweeden to Pike Co AR. Have even more records on other members who also wound up in Pike Co. Anyone researching these families ... Thanks, Carolyn. Carolyn Flowers Tucker, email: carolynftucker@webtv.net, 6 Aug 2002

Dunn, O'Neal. Surnames: Dunn, O'Neal, Hughes, Meeks and more. I seem to be at a number of brick walls and would appreciate ANY information anyone can give me on the Dunns and

O'Neals from Pike County. Particularly the Glenwood area. My father was born in Glenwood and I believe my grandfather, James Clifton Dunn who was the son of William A Dunn, son of Ezekiel Dunn. My grandfather (James) married Rosie A. O'Neal, daughter of E.D. O'Neal (known as Dunc and Duncan), son of Charles H. O'Neal. Can anyone here remember or know of anything about any of these people or their ancestors I would be very grateful. Thanks in advance. Herb Dunn, email: herb@srpoetry.com, 10 Aug 2002

In search of Mobley marriage certificate. I'm searching for a marriage certificate for David Mobley, Jr. & wife - Martha. David was born 11/21/1824 in Clark Co., AR; Martha was born abt. 1829 in TN. David, Jr. & Martha moved to TX by 1870, where David died July 11, 1895 in Jack Co., TX. Martha's date/place of death is still unknown to me. David & Martha had the following six children: William G. Mobley (my gg-gf), David A. Mobley, John F. Mobley Mary L. Mobley, Julia A. Mobley, Joseph A. Mobley. What I'm not positive of is the date of David & Martha's marriage, or location. As David, Jr's family had lived in Clark Co., it could have been there as well. I've been told it was about 1846 in Pike Co., AR, but haven't been able to find proof of it. If anyone finds more on this marriage, I'd be very appreciative. Thanks in advance. Bob Mobley, email: maverick60@cableone.net, 13 Aug 2002

Sparks. My great grandfather was ... James Wiley Sparks. He was born in Georgia in 1853 and died in Pike Co., Ar. in 1930. I have very little info on his parents ... Diann Lamb, email: rdlamb@alltel.net, 14 Nov 2002

Info needed on John Huddleston. I am a direct descendant of John Huddleston who discovered a diamond on his farm. My mother is Betty Huddleston, her father was Dale Huddleston, and Dale's father was, John Huddleston from Arkansas. I would like to have more information of John Huddleston, if possible. Some newspaper clippings or magazine articles or even a pic of John in some old newspaper from the 1900's. I have just recently discovered the relationship to John Huddleston who they say discovered the first diamonds in Arkansas. Mary Williams, email: whistleinthewind@hotmail.com, 21 Nov 2002

About PCAHS

The Pike County Archives and History Society was founded in 1986 and is a 501 C3 tax-exempt non-profit organization dedicated to collecting and preserving materials which bring together the unique history of Pike County, Arkansas and its people. One of the objectives of PCAHS is to promote interest in the history of Pike County and the State of Arkansas. PCAHS also works with children and young adults in conjunction with the area schools to teach the proper use of a research facility. The archives house over 500 old Pike County record books dating from 1895 including early tax records, maps, etc. The collection of materials also include family histories, census records, microfilm and book publications, and other material for historical and genealogical research. There is no charge for the use of these materials or for using the research facilities in Murfreesboro. Donations of money and, or re-search material, are always welcome. If you have questions regarding Pike County Ancestors or if you would like to donate your family history, pictures or other information that might help others with their research you can contact the society at: PCAHS, P.O. Box 875, Murfreesboro, Arkansas 71958. PCAHS is currently funded by membership dues, donations, and sales of publications. When you are in the Murfreesboro area plan to stop by the PCAHS office and see the research resources that are available for Pike County and surrounding area. In March 2002 we opened at a new location with plenty of room for you to do your research at 112 N. Washington Avenue, Suite B, Murfreesboro, Arkansas.
